

What is LifeBase Interactive?

LifeBase Interactive provides something different for schools that are looking for an original approach and particularly schools wanting something new and exciting.

It provides flexible, innovative sessions in a very cost-effective way. It can be:

- Combined with standard mobile classroom sessions
- Used as a stand-alone resource in new schools
- Used at schools which can't accommodate a mobile classroom
- Or a combination of all of the above

What can we provide?

- A specialist drug and health education reflecting best practice
- Highly trained Educators employing positive and dynamic teaching strategies
- Qwizdom interactive voting system
- A choice of specially selected LifeBase modules so that teaching can be tailored to the needs of your school

Year 7 Programme – Smoking/Tobacco

- A Qwizdom survey exploring facts and perceptions/attitudes to smoking/Tobacco
- A drama (pairs and forum theatre) to help young people develop skills to handles everyday tricky situations
- Exploration of consequences and risks in peer group situations
- The general Drug knowledge—medicines/legal/illegal—group work

Year 8 Programme – Alcohol

- Looking at images of how alcohol is portrayed in society and the mixed messages that these give to young people
- A Qwizdom survey exploring facts and perceptions/ attitudes towards alcohol
- A drama, including hot-seating, to consider misconceptions about alcohol use, normative behavior and the mixed messages about alcohol that adults sometimes give young people

How is this done?

LifeBase uses a life-skills approach with quizzes, drama and audio-visual stimulus. Lessons last approximately an hour and are delivered in a suitable space in your school.

How does Qwizdom work?

Each child is given their own handset. Questions are asked, which appear on screen one by one, and the children select what they think is the correct answer using the handset. The answers children give are confidential—the others will not know what they've selected.

At the end of the session, the questions are looked at again, together with an overall view of the answers given by the group.
